

Privacy information.

This page is a practical starting point and should be reviewed and completed with appropriate legal advice before public launch.

Contact information

If you contact Herder Elektronische Systemen by email, the information you provide is used to respond to your inquiry and assess the requested engineering discussion. No complex contact backend is used by this static site.

Public portfolio material

Project details are handled confidentially. Public portfolio material is published only when authorized. The representative projects on this site are public technical work and are not presented as completed client contracts.

Hosting and technical data

The static site is deployed through Cloudflare Pages. Cloudflare may process standard technical data such as request logs to deliver and secure the site. Email inquiries are handled through Google Workspace at info@herdersystemen.com. This page does not state retention periods or regulatory compliance claims; provider-specific wording should be confirmed with appropriate legal advice before launch.

Questions

For privacy questions, write to info@herdersystemen.com.